

BETWEEN THE RIVER AND THE ROAD

BRITTA LEE SHAIN

excitement. Produced by the outstanding multi-instrumentalist, Freddy Koella (whose credits include Bob Dylan and K.D. Lang), Between The River And The Road is “one powerhouse of an album... sparse and haunting... creating a dark, mysterious landscape that is filled with intrigue and dramatic tension.”—The BardChord

A novelist/screenwriter turned songwriter, Shain delivers her edgy lyrics and thought provoking themes with a unique vocal style that has led her to be dubbed “a female Tom Waits” (Linda Kordek, The Agency Group). From the seductive opening track, “Lay Your Body Down,” to the stormy passions of “Pacific Coast Highway” and the heart-breaking politics of “Mercy Town” and “America The Beautiful,” this collection of story-songs has already attracted attention overseas, where Netherlands reviewer Johan Schoenmakers of Alt Country Forum called it “a timeless album.”

“On first listening to Britta Lee Shain’s new CD... I was surprised that it was her first. World class songwriting combined with a beautiful and haunting voice, Britta folds you into her world of the scratch and scabble landscape driving through harsh places, only to rise above with a sparkle – all the more bright from the journey.”—JOYCE WOODSON, winner, Will Rogers Academy of Western Artists “Best Female Performer,” and Western Music Association “Song of the Year”

"Britta Lee Shain sings with grit and passion.
Ride with her. You'll enjoy the trip."
